Local voters opt for Clinton, and most incumbents

*Turnout is high;
turnover is low*

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Maine voters did themselves proud once again on Election Day last Tuesday, turning out in the highest numbers in the nation.

But despite the anti-incumbent rhetoric during the campaign and the obvious voter dissatisfaction with the state of affairs in Augusta and Washington, the high turnout did not lead to a high turnover in officeholders. Local voters—like their fellows across the nation—returned most incumbents to office.

Most that is, but not the one at the top. Area voters gave Bill Clinton a handy edge over incumbent President George Bush, but the president-elect only narrowly bested Ross Perot. Perot, in fact, came as close in Maine as he would knocking George Bush out of second place in a statewide race.

Both of Maine's congressional representatives won rather easily, although Second District Rep. Olympia Snowe's districtwide tally was less than the combined tally of her two opponents, Democrat Pat McGowan and Green Party entry Jonathan Carter. But in the SAD 44 area voters gave Snowe a clear majority over her two challengers.

There were no incumbents in either of the two local state Senate elections, but both were won by House members attempting to enter the upper chamber.

Democrat Ida Luther of Mexico defeated political newcomer Carl Hansen, R-Bethel, 10,275 to 8,164, for the District 8 Senate seat.

And Republican House member Dana Hanley of Oxford, defeated Democratic businessman James Wilfong of Stow, 11,997 to 8,746, for the District 15 seat.

In the race for the District 49 House seat, incumbent Republican Al Barth easily defeated Democratic challenger Rockie Graham, 3,161 to 1,894.

Education Fair Friday

An Education Fair, "Cooperating to Educate in the Telstar Region," will be held Friday, Nov. 13 at Bingham Gym at Gould Academy.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony at 4 p.m. will kick-off the fair, which features exhibits by more than 25 non-profit educational providers, as well as several presentations and demonstrations.

Invited to serve as ribbon-cutters at the Education Fair are William Clough, headmaster at Gould Academy and Gwyneth Bohr and Charles Raymond, co-chairs of the Bethel Area Task Force's Education Group, which is sponsoring and financing the fair.

The task force will also produce an educational resource directory for distribution to attendees.

The fair will run from 4 to 8 p.m. There is no admission charge, and refreshments will be sold by the Telstar Boosters Club.

Chapman pleads innocent

By LISA WILLIAMS ACKLEY

A Gilford man charged with shooting his sister's fiance to death with a 12-gauge shotgun Oct. 8 pleaded innocent at his arraignment on the murder case Friday morning in Oxford County Superior Court.

In a clear voice, David Chapman responded "not guilty" when asked by Justice Roland A. Cole to answer to the charge of murder lodged against him.

Chapman, who has been held without bail since his arrest for the murder of Richard "Ritchie" Hutchins, 28, also pleaded innocent to one count of possession of a firearm by a felon Friday. Justice Cole ordered that Chapman continue to be held without bail.

Hutchins' body was discovered behind the home he shared in Gilford with Chapman's sister, Susan. Hutchins' cousin and neighbor, Tony Bennett, made the discovery in the woods behind the home on Northwest Bethel Road after he went looking for Hutchins.

Chapman's court-appointed attorney, John Jenness of South Paris, told the court his client is currently serving a 60-day sentence at the Oxford County Jail for a probation violation.

Chapman's girlfriend, Caroline J. Sweetser, testified at a probable cause hearing in mid-October that, while she did not see Chapman leave the home they shared with the 12-gauge shotgun, she heard him loading it in their bedroom and said the gun was not in the house after Chapman left.

Sweetser said after Chapman left, she called Ritchie Hutchins and told him Chapman was on his way over with a gun.

Sweetser said Hutchins "wasn't calm, he was hyper" when he said to her, "Is that right?" she said, "The receiver went click and that was it."

Police later recovered the shotgun from a bog behind Sweetser and Chapman's home. A state firearms examiner has determined that the shotgun has been matched with a spent shell casing found near Hutchins' body.

Sunday River claims Sugarloaf is way off

By LIZ CHAPMAN

Maine's two largest ski resorts are arguing over the honesty of a radio advertisement, and the Maine Attorney General's Office has been called in to settle the dispute.

Sunday River Ski Resort filed a formal complaint with the AG's Office against Sugarloaf USA of Carrabassett Valley, charging that a Sugarloaf radio ad "misrepresented the truth" about the resort's available skiable terrain and the traveling distance from Portland to Carrabassett Valley in Franklin County.

Sunday River also challenged Sugarloaf's claim that it was the first ski area in Maine history to open in October.

In separate interviews Friday, Spokesmen for both resorts traded allegations about the accuracy of the radio ad.

"We're very concerned there's some deliberate attempt to mislead the public," said Sunday River spokesman Skip King.

"We stand by everything we said," countered Sugarloaf spokesman Chip Carey.

"Sunday River's concern is a pattern by Sugarloaf of misrepresentation. That's what's going on here," King said.

"Quite frankly," responded Carey, "what you have here is a ski area trying to manipulate the media ... Now that Sugarloaf is on the rebound now that we've reorganized, they (Sunday River) don't have the airwaves all to themselves anymore and people are nervous."

Assistant Attorney General Francis Ackerman confirmed the complaint had been received Friday, but declined comment on what action the state would take in the dispute.

As of early this week, King said, Sunday River had no received word on what action the Attorney General's Office planned to take on the matter.

Sunday River asserts that the Sugarloaf ad violates Maine law because it provides "false and misleading information".

The focus of the debate centers on an ad which began running Wednesday on three Portland radio stations and another in Skowhegan. The Sugarloaf ad says the resort is only 35 miles farther than Sunday River from Portland; that it offered skiers 2,000 feet of skiable terrain this week; and that it opened Oct. 31 for the earliest opening in Maine ski history.

Saturday detention defended

By WENDY HANSOM

Is Saturday detention worth it? SAD 44 administrators think so.

Bethel Director Merton Brown has his doubts.

Hutchins was avoiding the town office, Mills said, so he would not have to face Schachter.

Mills said, because the selectmen were trying to take on more responsibilities traditionally done by Schachter, they felt the need to reduce her hours.

Schachter also had problems keeping up with the minutes and

At Monday's school board meeting, Brown said that after reviewing a list of students given Saturday detention to date, he felt the new policy was not a cost-effective deterrent to student misbehavior.

Brown also objected to the policy in September, when district administrators announced they planned to pay teachers $30 to supervise Saturday detention.

"I was really shocked to see that there have been 53 times that Saturday detention has been used," Brown said. "It was my understanding that it was to be used as a last resort--before suspension. If we

JASON ROWLAND'S FAMILY SAYS THANKS

To the Editor:

This year Thanksgiving will mean something very special to the Jason Rowland family.

We want to thank all the wonderful people in the Bethel and Rumford area that helped and were there for him. Your generosity will never be forgotten, ever.

On Sept. 6 my son Jason was brutally stabbed by a crazed man off the street at a Dunkin' Donuts shop in Manchester, N.H. where Jason was working.

The sick, numbing, terror feeling, looking at my son on a respirator and every other living device they had connected to him to keep him alive was almost unbearable. But with the quick thinking of a man, Richard Philibert, that just happened to come into Dunkin' Donuts, tackled the assailant and held him until the police arrived. And Dianna Lamb, the lady that acted by grabbing Jason and holding onto and applying pressure to his wounds all the while calling 911. The Chaulk Ambulance crew of Manchester, the fantastic and, yes, miracle Dr. Thomas R. Molano and medical staff in the intensive care unit at the Elliot Hospital, Manchester that kept my son alive.

To watch my son progress before my eyes that long week, I will never ever forget. And to watch him walk out of the hospital doors a week to the day of the incident a true miracle, as quoted by the doctors and staff.

A very special thanks to Conn and Ted St. Pierre of Toumaline Music at the Outlook Studio who organized a benefit concert for Jason on Oct. 24 and, with the generous donations from so many of you good people, presented him with a brand new drum set that night.

The fantastic raffle items donated by this community shows how they care about their people; Sunday River Ski Resort, Maine Nordic Ski Council, Joe Perham, Friends Pantry, Mt. Mann, Four Season Inn, The Sudbury Inn, Going Home Restaurant, Hawk Haven Products, Bonnema Pottery, Ultimate Airworks, Diana Rowe, IV Corners Too, DeCor Video, Maine Line Products, Bad Habits Records, Ladies Choice, Rock Enterprise, Tourmaline Music and Connie St. Pierre.

Special thanks to: Mary and Edward Mills, Martha Martin, John Julian, D.J.'s Variety, Gertrude Thornton, Margaret Logan, Mitch Maddocks, Stone Fish, Eva Mills Fontaine's, The Outlook Pro Audio, Chris Ross and Phil, Mike Sangillo, Frank Bulger, Mike Dunn, Dan Nichols and WBLM, Melissa Bean, Rob Gaudet, Rick Thornton, Paul Krakause, Bob Matthew, Federal Distributors, Bennie Green, Face Magazine, Four Corners, Beth Blood, Judy Johnson, Wende Gray, Skip King, Ken Morse, Nikki Milonzi, Shop 'n Save, Mahoosuc Arts Council, R.A.A.P.A., Trendsetters, Bethel Spa Motel, Mahoosuc Realty Inc., Gary C. Dyke, Bartash, White Mtn. Masonry, Dino's Pizza, Katlin Signs, Dr. E.Bruce Kim, The Wool Shed, Preti, Flaherty, Beliveau & Pachios, Cary & Assoc., Dick Blackman and SAD 43, all the artists for their time and talent—Sky Frontier, Thea Dunn, The Wobblies, Joe Perham, Hit n Run, Sonny Probe, Peace Corpse and everyone for coming and caring.

Yes, Thanksgiving this year will be very special. We have a lot to be thankful for—Jason's life.

EDUCATION FAIR

To the Editor:

For several months, as a member of the Bethel Area Task Force's Education Group, I have worked with others in that group to learn more about the resources around our region which enhance the learnings of our neighbors of all ages.

We had left the Community Conference last November with the vision that the beginning of the new century, all ages of people would be teaching and learning side by side—a community event. Our first step was to start some sort of inventory of what exists. This information we obtained by interviewing representatives from many organizations and agencies—some specifically educational institutions—and some which were teaching and adding to our understandings less formally.

The information we gathered has been condensed by me into a booklet for unveiling at the fair. It is largely of my own preparation—condensing, computing, and making of many errors or omissions. Of this I am apologetic, and am glad we are calling this our "first draft," and are open to items from other groups we did not reach the first time around.

As we move into the last week before our region-wide education fair, I want to share the sense of amazement I have for the variety of the efforts of the more than two dozen groups which will be represented at the fair. We have more than one of each type of groups, such as four historical societies. But, each is unique in its special offerings.

We hope that visitors to the Fair will roam the aisles, ask questions; offer their own expertise; stop to watch demonstrations, and enjoy a hot dog with their friends or family. Please come: Bingham Gymnasium, Friday, Nov. 13 from 4 to 8 p.m., co-sponsored by the Bethel Area Task Force and SAD 44.

CRAFT FAIR THANKS

To the Editor:

Thank you to all who helped make our seventh annual C.P.S. Craft Fair a huge success once again. Many people braved the cold day to buy or browse from the wide selection of crafts made by crafters set up in the cafeteria, gymnasium and hallways of Telstar. Our own C.P.S. students also made crafts for the occasion.

The C.P.S. Parent Teacher Association sponsored an outside activity in conjunction with the fair. Hayrides were available throughout the day.

You couldn't have missed our sign advertising the big day if you had driven by Telstar in the last few weeks or so. Donny Kattin (Nick and Eben's dad) did a fantastic job. Thank you, Donny, for your time and generosity!

Parents, teachers and students certainly played an important part in the success of this event. The food donated to the food tables was abundant and tasty. Student council members, under the guidance of their adviser Ellen Grecke did a fine job at tending the lunch table and popcorn machine (owned by Mountain View Store). The baseball card tables manned by members of the C.P.S. Baseball Card Club also did an outstanding job.

Many volunteers came to our rescue Friday after school to help set up. Others helped early Saturday morning, and throughout the day. Thank you to those who volunteered with face painting, balloons, raffles, C.P.S. tables, cleaning up and everything else.

A sincere thank you to the following businesses who so graciously helped to support the Crescent Park School: Sunday River, Western Maine Supply, True North Adventureware, Telstar Video, Fashion Basket, The Wood and Glass Gallery, Red Top Truck Stop, Maine Line Products, Mountain View Store/Sandy's Restaurant, Groan and McGurn, Pleasant River Chinese Restaurant, Ta-ka-radi, Prebs, Carmellas, Keenan Auction Company, Pleasant River Trading, Brooks Brothers and the Unicorn Flower Shop.

Thank you all,

FUNDRAISER SUCCESS—Scores of people attended the largest ever Crescent Park School Annual Craft Fair Saturday. Here Sheri, left, and Santana Cordova sell student crafts at the fair. About 40 other tables featured all sorts of home-made crafts, jewelry, toys, knit items and more. CPS Principal David Murphy said the school netted approximately $1,500 from the event. Students, staff and parents sold hot dogs, popcorn, soda, baseball cards, student crafts, school shirts and home-made baked goods. The money raised will be used for special events and projects at the school, Murphy said. (Photo by Jean Bolesema)

Welcome to the Big House

By MIKE BROWN

The candidates-elect to the 116th Maine Legislature might compare their winnings to a new car in the driveway the morning after election. It's a great sight from the living room window—but on closer examination the legislative coupe has no tires, no steering wheel and 200,000 miles on the engine. The chassis is a lemon.

Well, maybe not quite that bad. After all, new legislators, as selected politicians, will quickly learn that no two issues will be so far apart that they can't straddle them.

New legislators should be warned, however, that life at the State Capitol has both rewards and punishments. The biggest whipping is that legislators can do no right, according to the folks back home who did, and did not, elect them. And the frustration comes when legislators realize there's not much they can do about it. The reward is that legislators can hide in the State House.

The 116th is double trouble because the state is broke. This term's theme will be not what legislators can do for their constituents, but rather how much their constituents can stand in new taxes.

New legislators will be told that they must raise nearly $3 to 4 billion just to keep the government store open. And some legislators may be surprised to learn that only they and their colleagues make all the laws and mandate all the taxes. The bottom line is 186 legislators who have the power of attorney over 2.2 million citizens.

Being a legislator means sitting in one hard chair or another for 90 percent of their time listening to one group or another trying to influence their vote. There are times when one group, lobbyists, actually buy votes on the legislative future's vote exchange.

Most of legislative working time will be spent in at least one committee to which legislators have little choice in membership. New legislators soon learn that the process is run by leadership, the fiefdom, which makes all appointments according to its wishes—not theirs. It's sort of like the old Army. If you wanted to be a tank driver, the Army made you a cook.

New Republican representatives will find the majority House of Democrats not unlike a boot camp and that John Martin, if he so chooses to re-enlist, will be their two-year drill instructor. R-recruits will speak only when recognized, wear a tie and jacket, never chew gum nor speak evil of Democrats while in the barracks of Di Martin.

New senators in the minority will find their quarters a converted clothes closet manned by a couple of hat check staff. The majority quarters, starting with the spacious sunnyside south suite of the President, is condo comfy with plenty of staff gofers including overpaid aides to write personal press releases.

New legislators may have a tough time finding the State House press. First, because there aren't many. And second because their quarters are underground and unmarked. The resident State House press should be defined. There is the Associated Press and the daily newspaper press. There is the Maine Times press which writes self-described "expert" advocacy journalism which is an euphemism for liberal Democrat. There are two independents, Mal Leary and myself. The mule train television press comes and goes depending on what it considers a good 10-second sound bite day. On a bad day they make one up.

The press, which skulks around the State House, is often mistaken for lobbyists. New legislators can tell the difference by the dress. Lobbyists wear lawyer grey suits, matching socks, silk ties and L.L. Bean tassel loafers. They keep their $100-an-hour log sheets by Rolex. None of the press owns a suit. Most wear Herman Survivor hiking boots, belt-less Dockers, Reny flannel shirts and Timex watches.

The second floor belongs to the Republicans for at least two more years. Gov. Jock McKernan lives there when he isn't gallivanting about the country trying to line up a job for 1994. Democrats found on the second floor should admit they got lost looking for the bathroom. Word gets back very quickly to the third floor D-fiefdom about second floor Democrats.

And lastly, there is no consumer warning posted on the State House cafeteria door (also known as the Bay of Pigs) so new legislators may want to brown bag it for a while. With $70 a day eat n' sleep expense money, legislators can put a pretty fair brown bag together.

Welcome Freshman Class to the Big House. (Veteran newsman and columnist Mike Brown writes regularly on the Augusta political scene. His views are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of The Citizen.)

In filing the complaint Friday, Sunday River said it could prove that none of the claims were true. King said he and other Sunday River officials worry that the "misleading" ads will damage the credibility of all Maine ski industry ads.

In conjunction with filing the complaint with the AG's Office, Sunday River officials say they notified the four radio stations and asked that the Sugarloaf ads be immediately withdrawn.

As of Tuesday, however, the ad was still running on at least some of the stations.

Sunday River also responded with its own ad, claiming "we're too busy to blow smoke. We blow snow instead."

The ad also claims that Sunday River now has twice as much snow as any other ski area in Maine, twice as deep, and on twice as much terrain—and that Sunday River is more than an hour closer to Portland than Sugarloaf.

Sugarloaf spokesman Carey said Sunday River's complaint was a "nuisance" and that the Newry Ski operators "are trying to make a mountain out of a mole hill."

Carry said he drove the two primary routes from Portland to Sunday River and Sugarloaf and found that skiers have to drive 35 miles more to ski at Sugarloaf than Sunday River. King maintains the distance is 51 miles.

Carry said that prior to the end of construction on Routes 4 and 27, skiers were routed through Augusta, which added an extra 16 miles to the trip. Carry said he believed Sunday River officials were using the Augusta route in saying Sugarloaf is 51 miles farther than Sunday River. But Sunday River spokesman King said that despite the different mileage counts, both resorts used the same route to measure travel distance from Portland.

Carry said Sunday River has promoted the "perception that (Sugarloaf) is a lot farther away" and used that as a "key point" in its marketing strategy.

Carry also asserted that the radio ad's claim that Sugarloaf offered 2,000 vertical feet of skiable terrain was accurate. He said that on Wednesday morning, Sugarloaf officials decided that 400 feet of the open trails were "unsafe" because of Tuesday night's freezing rain storm. He said the terrain was nonetheless open to skiers.

"The trail was 100 percent skiable," Carry said.

Sunday River's King said he checked with Sugarloaf's telephone snow report and its front desk personnel and determined that Sugarloaf had only about 1,600 feet of terrain available to skiers.

King also disputed Sugarloaf's claim that it was the first ski area in Maine history to open in October.

Carry said he drove the two primary routes from Portland to Sunday River and Sugarloaf and found that skiers have to drive 35 miles more to ski at Sugarloaf than Sunday River. King maintains the distance is 51 miles.

Sugarloaf opened this year on Oct. 31. Sunday River opened on Nov. 1.

Both resorts encompass about 7,000 acres of land, according to the spokemans. Sunday River offers 72

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

More than 60 people attended the November monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society, held Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, to hear Mary C. Keniston discuss the history of the Grover Hill section of Bethel.

Mrs. Keniston's presentation was illustrated with a wide variety of contemporary and historical slides, photographs which brought to all of those attending an appreciation of the changes that have occurred here since Bethel's earliest days. Long an important agricultural area (particularly for apple growing), Grover Hill continues that tradition, although most of the farms that once dotted the landscape are gone. Much of the countryside has grown up to trees, and the vistas that were once enjoyed by resident and visitor alike are today much more limited. Mrs. Keniston was assisted in her research and presentation by Society Curator of Collections Randall H. Bennett.

Several ironies were noted during the evening. Grover Hill really is a series of six hills. It was named for John Grover, who never lived there. The Grover Hill Road was once three different roads, one connected with Albany, one with Skillingston, and the present road. The first two have long since been disconnected and are no longer town roads.

During the business portion of the meeting Society president Jane Hosterman announced that the next meeting will be held on Dec. 3 and feature the annual "Christmas with the Masons." The "Artifact of the Month" was announced by Mrs. Hosterman as the charter of the Lucky Clover 4-H Club of East Bethel dating from the late 1920s from an anonymous donor. Society Curator of Collections Randall H. Bennett made several announcements including the report of the Maine Olmstead Alliance, a new group dedicated to documenting the state's historic landscape architecture, which in Bethel has surveyed the Bethel Hill Common, Kimball Park and the Civil War monument.

From the Bethel Police log:

Locked windows foil burglar; tractor-trailer spills oil

A Clark Street resident reported an attempted burglary last Monday. The woman told police that someone had cut the screen off her bathroom window and pried the storm window up six inches. She said someone had also tried to push up a storm window in the dining room. The report said no one gained entry because the inside windows were all locked.

Police responded to a report last Tuesday of a smoking tractor-trailer truck traveling west on Route 2. The driver told police he had blown his turbo unit. Officer Darren Tripp reported that one-half to one gallon of motor oil was on the ground under the truck. He contacted the Department of Transportation and asked for sand to cover the spill. Bethel Fire Chief Jim Young gave police "oil sponges" to contain the puddle until the sand truck arrived. Tripp also notified the Department of Environmental Protection. A DEP official told him all the necessary action had been taken.

In other police news last week, Town Manager Madeleine Henley reported Wednesday morning that the wooden frame on the "for sale" sign at the Bethel Industrial Park building had been torn off and dragged away.

Later Wednesday, police controlled traffic on Route 2 while a cable company repaired some downed wires.

Thursday night, Officer Anne Bertram responded to a report of a suspicious vehicle near the intersection of the Chandler Hill Road and Route 26. Bertram saw a vehicle coming out of a nearby field. Scott Berry, no residence given, told police he had permission to trap in the area and was checking his traps.

Rumford police notified Bethel police of a car/deer accident on the Sunday River Road. A Mexico woman's vehicle broke down in Rumford on her way home. She returned to the Sunday River Road and told Bethel police her car became disabled after she hit a deer. The deer was not found.

have 53 last resorts, then I'm very concerned. There's one student that's been four times. That doesn't seem like a deterrent to me. It seems more like a chance for people to work on a Saturday."

Superintendent Dewaine Craig walked away from his position as secretary of the board and into the audience to respond to Brown's objections.

"Last resort to us meant before suspension," Craig said. "I heard from the board 'Let's cut down on suspensions.' That's my interpretation (of Saturday detention) as a last resort."

When Andover director Brad Thibodeau asked for any positive results of Saturday detention, Assistant Principal Carroll Higgins also said the policy was an effective alternative to suspension.

"The days are over when the vice-principal or principal could stand at the door and say 'don't come back until you're ready to follow our rules.' The courts have more or less done away with that, and I'm not sure I disagree. This is an alternative that we have left to use. Saturday detention for some means a little more because they have to get up on a Saturday morning, go to school and sit with a teacher for three hours. I do think it's made an impact on some students. It's not a way to give somebody $30 on a Saturday, but it is an attempt to get some students to change their behavior. But I think $30 on a Saturday is OK even if it helps only one kid."

Proposed county budget up

Telstar Principal Ted Davis said Saturday detention also usually forces parents to drive their children to school, which gives administrators a chance to talk to the parents about the child's unacceptable behavior.

"The teachers feel very positive about it and think that it's working," Davis said. "We hope as the year progresses that the numbers will decrease."

Other than general discussion, no board action was taken on the issue.

In other business Monday night, Craig discussed plans for the relocation of portable classrooms at the Crescent Park School during construction of the school's new addition.

Craig said CPS's six portables will probably be moved to the west side of the present building (toward Bethel Park Apartments) after school closes this year.

The entire construction site will be fenced off, and during school hours all construction traffic will enter from the back of the property off Evergreen Road, Craig said.

The board also approved Walter Springer as Telstar assistant girls basketball coach, Chris Olson as CPS basketball coach, Bernice Cadigan as Woodstock Elementary School volunteer ski coach and Larry Durgin as WES grade-three volunteer basketball coach.

Woodstock Director Marjorie Kessler and Bethel Director Cheryl Eliot were absent from Monday's meeting.

GIFT FROM A STAR--S. Epatha Merkerson, left, recently donated five scholarships to the Explorations art program run by Arla Patch, right. Merkerson is an actress who has performed in several movies including Terminator 2, Jacobs Ladder, Navy Seals and Loose Cannons. She currently stars in NBC's Here and Now, produced by Bill Cosby. Patch said she met Merkerson in 1972, when they waited on tables together while attending Indiana University in Bloomingdale, Ind. Explorations is an after-school program for SAD 44 students interested in various art mediums. Students can pay a tuition fee or apply for a scholarship. The Explorations fall session will exhibit some of their works at the Bethel Inn Conference Center on Saturday, Nov. 21 from 2 to 4 p.m. There is no charge for the exhibition, and refreshments will be served.

Voting

Ida Luther's former House District 5 seat went to Republican Robert Cameron of Rumford, who bested Democrat Sonja Hodgkins of Roxbury, 2,416 to 1,783.

And Republican Brenda Birney-Quint of Paris defeated Democrat Mary Ryan Adams of Paris, 2,514 to 1,895, for Dana Hanley's vacated seat in House District 51.

In House District 49, Republican Richard Bennett of Norway was unopposed in his successful bid for re-election to a second term.

Hopes for the future

By the week after the election both the winners and losers in the two major SAD 44 area races were already looking to the future.

Luther, who served two terms in the House before seeking her Senate seat, said she hoped to be appointed to the Senate Labor Committee, and to focus her efforts for the next two years on bringing more jobs to the area.

Barth said that in his second House term he would continue to focus on constituent service and on efforts to make the state live within its means--by prioritizing state expenditures and eliminating those with low priority.

And Hansen and Graham both said their first bids for public office were not likely to be their last.

Hansen, buoyed by his strong showing in an often heated contest with Luther, said he would be keeping close tabs on developments in Augusta, especially regarding reapportionment, and would be ready to go again in 1994.

Graham said she had enjoyed the fray and the chance to bring new people into the political process. She promised to spend the next two years building up the local Democratic organization.

Referendum

Local voters also followed the statewide pattern on the nine referendum articles. They approved bonds for dealing with municipal solid waste and pollution control facilities, but rejected the four remaining bond proposals.

And they approved all three proposed constitutional amendments.

maintaining a log of the hours she worked, Mills said.

"You (Mills) just testified she just asked you for extra hours and you turned her down?" Hark asked, "then you complained she wasn't getting the job done."

Both Mills and Hutchins said prior to her written reprimand, there were no problems with Schachter's job performance.

Hutchins said Schachter didn't want Mills to be the chairman and tried to divide the selectmen by calling the town's other selectmen and making false accusations about Mills.

"The main reason for the reprimand was her behavior toward Brian in particular," Hutchins said. "I just felt as though she was trying to divide the Board of Selectmen."

Hark cross-examined Mills extensively, trying to paint a picture of little factual basis for Schachter's firing and alleged illegal selectmen's meetings regarding Schachter.

Hark was also critical of the selectmen's decision to fire Schachter without a prior agenda item and little apparent discussion at the night of the meeting.

"I believe the evidence before you is going to leave you with more questions than the evidence is going to answer," Hark said in his opening statement.

He said selectmen failed to specify orally and in writing what Schachter was doing wrong so she could cure the problem.

"She was given no reason," Hark said. "If it was discussed over a few months, the question is, where was it discussed?"

Bart said that in his second House term he would continue to focus on constituent service and on efforts to make the state live within its means--by prioritizing state expenditures and eliminating those

Our Halloween party was a grand success. You should have seen the decorations. The Spook House alone was worth the trip. Community cooperation was unbelievable. Parents gave dozens of hours, businesses donated generously, and teachers participated in every phase also. Children created many of the decorations and added to the excitement of the whole affair.

We want to thank everyone who aided this project in any way. Special thanks to our community members who came in Saturday morning and judged over 80 pumpkins. How are we going to top all this next year?

All classes enjoyed the voting process and seeing their outcomes in the newspaper. Our history lessons pack more meaning when we can actually take part in the making of them.

Don't forget T-shirt and sweatshirt orders. Please turn them in before Nov. 20.

Because of all the election information two weeks ago, my column with the kindergarten news did not appear. So I will focus on the kindergarten news this week. Grades K through two enjoyed a visit recently from Mr. Tibbets of the Sheriff's Department and from Violet the Clown. Their visit included a variety of safety tips including enjoying a safe Halloween and being aware of Stranger Danger. The program included reminders for children to report strangers to someone they know and trust if they suspect any danger. Each child received neat bookmarks and a poster on safety.

Classroom news specifically from the kindergartners and Mrs. Howes contains a brief summary of what they have been doing during the first ranking period. They begin the year by learning about school behavior. They learn about raising their hands, playing quietly in the classroom, and they learn about the importance of safety and the playground rules. They have been studying about fall and have been collecting the signs of fall: leaves, weeds, seeds, cattails, pumpkins, squash, apples and acorns. They held their Teddy Bear picnic, complete with Teddy Bears, during the second week of school. Since then they are reading lots of fairy tales. The Gingerbread Man was a favorite.

They have learned about the letters Aa, Bb, Cc, Dd, Ee, for writing, sounding and reading. They have worked with shapes: circles, triangles, squares, and rectangles, and they have been practicing their addresses and telephone numbers. They have been working with colors in science.

The kindergartners did their part for the Halloween party. They made paper ghosts with Mrs. Newmeyer and found them hanging from the pipes at the Halloween party. The class is working hard, but they are having fun too.

Mr. Burke's third-graders presented their annual homemade

PROTECT AGAINST EMPLOYEE THEFT

This article is brought to you
by Jane D. Gray, CPA

Employee theft happens frequently enough for it to be a concern of every business. It makes no difference whether your business is a one-employee medical office or a forty-employee retail outlet. Absentee business owners should be even more alert to this problem.

Busy managers find it easy to turn the recordkeeping over to a qualified employee. Don't do so without proper controls and constant review.

Consider these examples of the methods by which employees have been known to steal from their employers:

• Opening a checking account in a nearby community under the same name as the employer company.

• Overpaying the payroll taxes or large suppliers and asking for refunds which are then deposited in the employee's new company account.

• Convincing the employer that the independent accountant is an expensive luxury which the company can do without now that the employee is available to do financial statements.

• Soliciting the help of a supplier's employee, then overpaying the supplier and sharing the overpayment.

• Opening a checking account with the same name as the employer's major suppliers and then paying invoices twice; the first is sent to the supplier and the second is deposited in the employee's "extra" supplier account."

Some small businesses have paid a high price to learn about employee theft. Don't be lulled into thinking it could never happen in your business. Consult us for assistance in setting up reasonable internal controls to guard against employee theft.

TELSTAR COLLEGE WORKSHOP--Telstar High School Guidance Director Dan Hart and six college admissions representatives from the University of Maine at Farmington, University of New England, Husson College, St. Joseph College, Mid State College and New Hampshire Technical College-Berlin presented a college planning workshop Friday for nearly 40 members of Telstar's senior class. Topics discussed included financial aid, how to select a college, the college application process and the advantages of two-year college programs. Any money or candy bars that remain outstanding should be turned in to school as soon as possible. We are ready to conclude this fantastic fundraiser and want to redeem our prizes. Thanks again to all who helped with this project.

Gymnastic classes sponsored by the YMCA began on Oct. 28. Classes are held at the Agnes Gray gym from 3 to 5 p.m. on Wednesdays. This is for boys and girls grade K through six. For further information, call 743-7184.

CRESCENT PARK TO SHOW 'THE JUNGLE BOOK'

The Crescent Park School will sponsor a showing of "The Jungle Book" on Saturday, Nov. 21 at Telstar at 1:30 and 6:30 p.m. The cost of admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for children. Popcorn will be sold by the Lions Club.

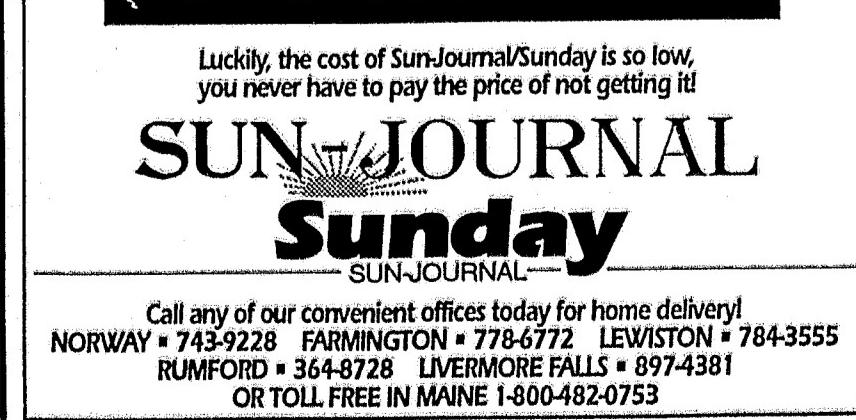

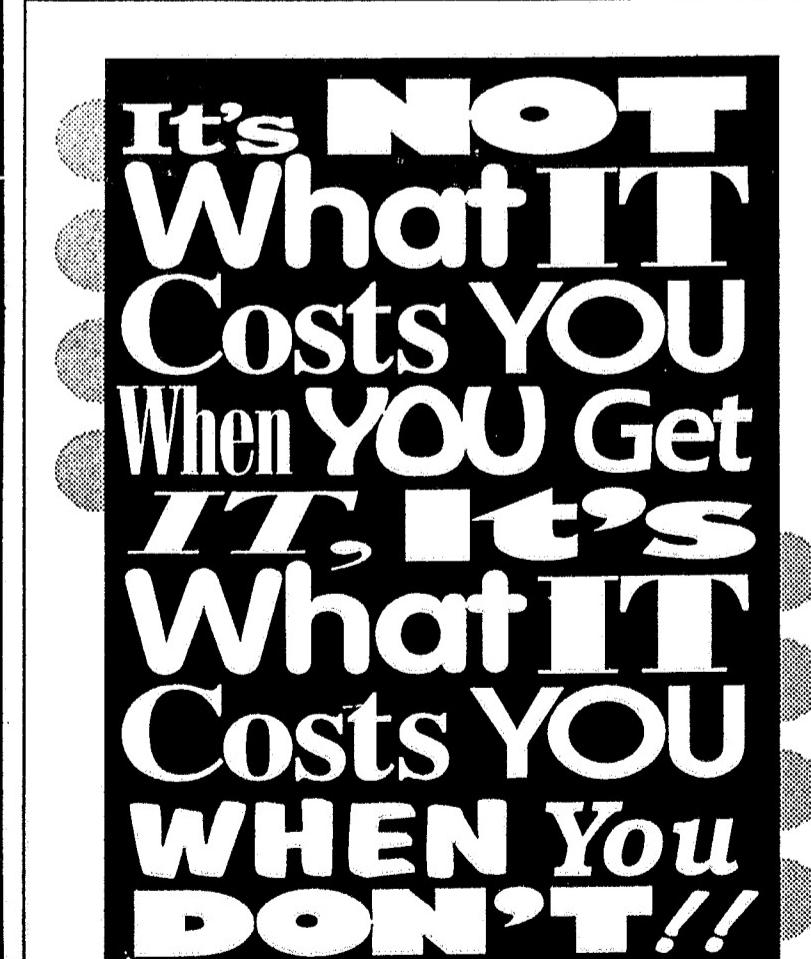

NOTES FROM Adult Education

Balsam fir wreath making will be the topic of a special Christmas workshop sponsored by SAD 44 Adult and Community Education. The class will be held on Monday, Nov. 16 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at the Unicorn Flower Shop under the direction of Ann Friedlander.

Each participant will make a unique wreath, weaving assorted greens for a special effect and learning the secret of making professional-looking bows. The class fee of $25 includes all instruction and all materials and a frame for a 12" wreath.

To register, call SAD 44 Adult and Community Education, 824-2780.

Fifth-grade students are an interesting group. Their favorite book is the one they are reading at the present. The topic of the moment spans snowmobiling to quantum physics. They are curious, questioning, elated, confused, or just plain "awesome," all this in the span of just a few minutes. But even more important, they are honest.

The recent presidential election inspired classroom conversations comparing candidates with an innocent honesty that can be admired. The one point everyone agreed upon is the fact that the job of the president of the United States is challenging and difficult.

The issues that these students deem important are evident in the following excerpts from inaugural speeches they wrote in the first few days following the election.

"I am the president of the United States and I am expected to make this country a better place to live. This country should pull together. You are the boss and I'm just here to help. I can only do that when we work together."

"I will help scientists find a solution for AIDS and drug users. (I will) raise the fines for polluting. I won't sit just and watch while the ozone layer falls apart."

"I am setting a new law that kids age three can go to daycare. Then, when they reach the age of four, they can go to school for half of the day until they reach age five. Then they go to school for a whole day."

"I would lower taxes for all Americans because I don't think that it is fair to rich or middle class people to just lower all of the poor peoples' taxes. I will lower all taxes."

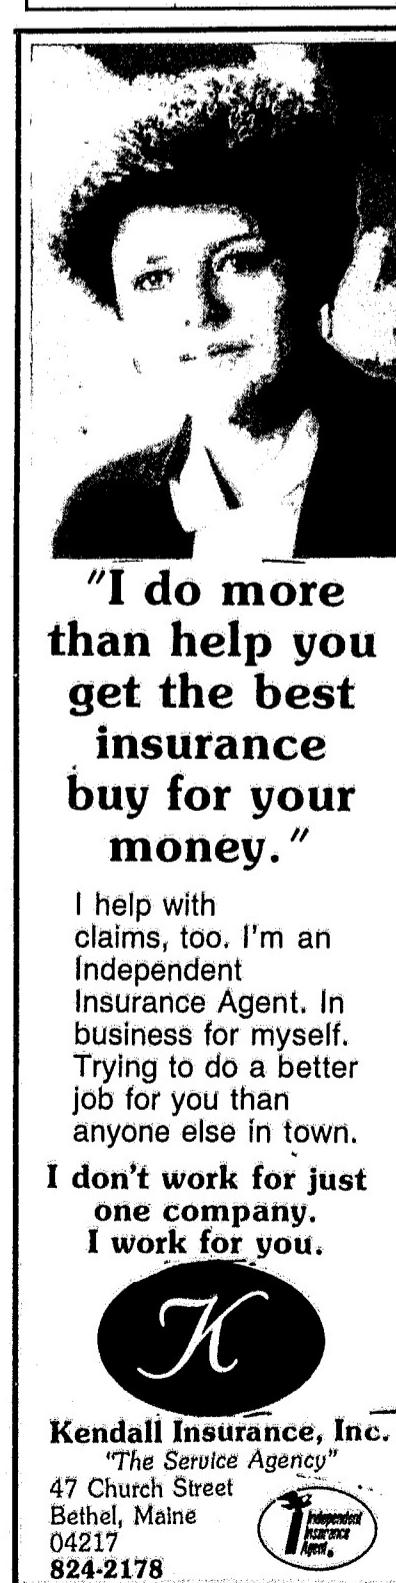

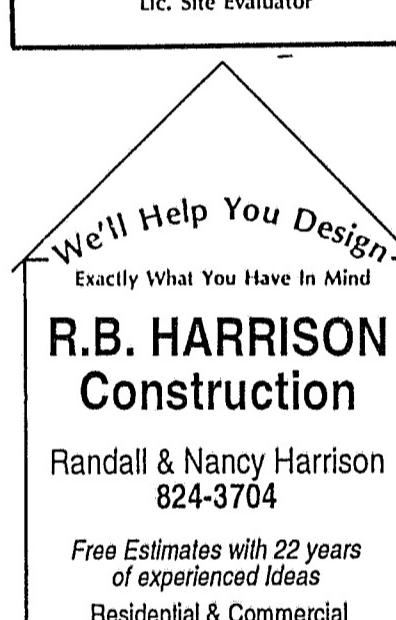

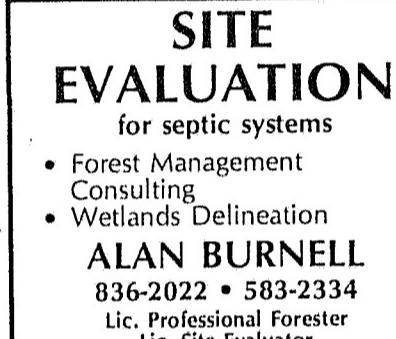

"I will also give older people a break on medicine costs and also have less taxes."

"I will try to see that our environment will get cleaned up. We will pay inventors to invent a car with a motor that will not pollute the environment."

"Furthermore, I will try to get the economy straightened out."

town of Bethel is fortunate to have been chosen as one of several sites across the state where students actively participated in voting at the polls the day before the actual election. Citizenship is difficult to teach. It is an experience, an opportunity, a feeling of civic pride.

At this writing we have learned that Howard Adams is at home from the Portland hospital and is doing okay but has to have further treatment with his doctors.

Thursday, Nov. 5 was the Hunters Supper at the Church Vestry here in Stoneham. (I know of one apple pie that they had!) It's in the oven as I write this.

Thaxter Littlefield is to come home on Friday, Nov. 6. He has been staying with his son and wife, Neal and Martha Littlefield in Virginia since his operation there. We come home, Thaxter.

We had two rainy days this week, the first one was busy and the second one was a good day for a nap. That's the advantage of being retired, but who can nap when there's news to hunt for? Speaking of hunting, that got off to a good start but haven't heard of anyone getting a deer except the son-in-law of Earl and Jean Littlefield, who got a nice big buck. There's deer out there.

On Monday, Jean McKensie, Kate Flynn, and myself had an enjoyable day with Ralph and Harriet Brown at their home, making pretty Christmas trees. We were quite the crafty bunch. Harriet served us with a most delicious dinner.

NOVEMBER 1992 SALE

Bryant Pond

By ALICE HOYT

Christmas tree lights for the Stephens Memorial Hospital are being sold in the area by Evelyn T. Bean. A light may be purchased in memory or in honor of person, or one may just purchase a light. The price is the same as in the past, $5. The tree lights will be turned on in a ceremony at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 2. Refreshments including coffee and hot chocolate will be served in the lobby of the hospital. All are invited to attend.

Robert and Mary Billings passed out fliers for the Historical Society Open House. The entertainment committee organized people to watch the museum. Much thanks. At this season of the year, the Historical Society encourages you to think of the traditions behind Thanksgiving and Christmas. Do you enjoy learning about the past and America's heritage? Then the Historical Society is designed for you. Learning is important for everyone.

Franklin Grange #124 met on Monday, Nov. 2. The American Legion Auxiliary put on a short program on Americanism. This part of the program was held before the meeting. Those taking part were Mary Lyon, Sylvia Dunham, Noreen Russo, and Olive Risko. Lettie Brooks helped out a little. Twenty-four members and four guests were present. Peggy Blake gave an interesting report on State Grange. All members were reported on and cards sent. Program opening thought by Anna Swan; reading by Richard Felt; reading on Veterans Day by Anna Swan; game by all; closing thought by Anna Swan; song by all. Next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 16 with Thanksgiving program. Please bring something for the Thanksgiving basket.

The Woodstock Extension will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 18. Brown bag lunch with a 10:30 a.m. meeting. The program on lamp shades will be held at the Town Annex room.

The Ladies Circle Fall Sale will be held Friday, Nov. 20 beginning at 10:30 a.m. and a luncheon being served during the noon hour. The usual grabs, white elephant, food and other tables will offer a variety of items, many useful for Christmas gifts. Do come and enjoy this sale.

The Greenwood Fire Department will hold its training session at 6:30 p.m. at the fire station on Wednesday, Nov. 18.

Some members of the Cole family have not had very good luck recently. Irving Cole is recuperating from a broken left ankle and is sporting a cast from foot to knee. Stephen Cole broke his shoulder while working in the woods. He and his wife have a new baby coming so this is not the best time for this to happen--if there ever is a good time which is doubtful. We wish both men speedy recoveries.

John Mills celebrated his 66th birthday on Tuesday, Nov. 3, by first casting his ballot in the election, and then by accompanying his wife to East Sebago where they picked up his sister, Mary, and went to North Windham where Mary treated them to a nice dinner at a local restaurant and then they went shopping. It was an enjoyable day.

Helen Chase and Charlotte Cole attended the funeral of Cedric Russell at Meader's Funeral Home in Rumford. Charlotte Cole was requested to sing.

Donna Downs and Lorraine Mills visited Elvira Littlehale at Market Square Health Care Facility in South Paris on Monday. Elvira will celebrate her 93rd birthday on Nov. 21 and we'd like to see her receive many cards as she really enjoys them.

Charlotte Cole has had a busy month. She has played Happy Birthday to Ruth Tyler in Bryant Pond who recently had to have eight teeth extracted and she visited Ledgeview in Halloween costume to entertain some of the patients there and play Happy Birthday to 93 year old Bill Young. She took Vera Cross and Helen Chase to Erlon and Alberta Scribner's in Albany where they had supper and an evening of cards and music. Alberta, by the way, is much improved after fighting cancer for some time, which is good news indeed. She entertained her niece, Valerie Cole and her friends, at supper recently and she and Helen Chase attended a Past Master's Night at Oxford Grange in Oxford which began with a 6 p.m. supper.

North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

Linda Woods of Fairfield came to North Newry recently visiting with old friends.

Services were held at the Newry Community Church Sunday, Nov. 1 with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was "Attribute to the Saints."

Members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" who were at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford were Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seeley, Bea Lowell, Doris Parent and Sylvia Wight. Of the "lefties" Karlene was high on the triples with a 310 score also high on the singles with 102 and 108 strings. Of the "righties" Doris was high on the singles and triples. Karlene had two spares and two strikes, Gil one strike and two spares, Sylvia one spare, Bea one spare, Doris two spares and one strike.

The Bear River Grange will meet Saturday, Nov. 14.

The Newry Fire Dept. Ladies Auxiliary will meet Thursday, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. at the Town Building.

Brent Bachelder and Terry O'Dowd of West Warwick, R.I. spend a weekend at Brent's mother and father's residence recently.

Bill Montgomery of Massachusetts is spending some time at his place on the Branch Road.

Did anyone tune in on channel 10 at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday for "Made in Maine" with Lou McNally? Sunday River was featured with their Mountain Bike Run and a 15 minute segment with the "Mountain Adventure" with Polly Mahoney and Kevin Slater camping, canoeing, building dog sleds and playing with their beautiful puppies. In fact, Brent, Terry, Karlene and I took a walk to see their puppies only a couple of weeks ago. Their headquarters are at the old Bachelder's Homestead just a few houses away from me.

There were 23 voters in Newry's Nov. 3 Youth Mock Election. The results were as follows:

For president-Bush, 4; Clinton, 4; Fulani, 1 and Perot 14.

For Representative to Congress-McGowan, 6 and Snowe, 16.

Referendums: #1 - Yes, 11 and No, 10. #2 - Yes, 4 and No, 17. #3 - Yes, 9 and No, 12. #4 - Yes, 12 and No, 8. #5 - Yes, 13 and No, 7. #6 - Yes, 5 and No, 16. #7 - Yes, 11 and No, 10. #8 - Yes, 15 and No, 6. #10 - Yes, 9 and No, 12.

Mahoosuc Arts notes:

On Nov. 19, Mahoosuc Arts will present Leland Faulkner & Co. His small, dynamic troupe will be offering two elementary school assemblies: one at 9:30 a.m. for Woodstock and Andover, and the other at 1 p.m. for Crescent Park. All schools will travel to the Bingham Auditorium at Gould Academy for this exhilarating event. Leland Faulkner & Co. is recognized for its elegantly woven performances that conjure antique Japan, Old Germany, mysterious Ireland, and other classic images. Through the art of mime, shadowgraphy, magic, and storytelling, Theater that celebrates life and cultural diversity--the performances bridge race and custom with creative spirit.

Faulkner, also the artistic director of the renowned Celebration Barn Theater in South Paris, has been a touring artist for 14 years. Through his work with Affiliate Artists he has performed in communities throughout the United States. He has taught and performed at theater festivals and in cultural exchange programs. The company has developed a wide repertoire of material that can accommodate both the child and the sophisticate. Leland Faulkner & Co. touches the heart and excites the imagination.

BAKERY REOPENS—Lois Kilroy, left, and Nancy Morris reopened the Hometown Bakery on Main Street in Bethel last week. The two women are formerly from the Portsmouth, N.H. area and this is their first venture into the food service business. Kilroy is a former nursing administrator and Morris a social worker. The bakery is open Monday through Saturday from 6:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and features home-made baked goods, bread, soups and salads, fresh donuts, daily lunch specials, coffee, ready-to-eat foods and a deli menu. Kilroy said the bakery is planning to expand its offerings and hours over the winter.

Anderson Brook Timber Sale

Evans Notch Ranger District

Bethel, Maine

November 4, 1992

EARLY SHOWING OF NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER SALE

EARLY SHOWING FOR NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER SALE, WHITE MOUNTAIN NATIONAL FOREST, ANDERSON BROOK TIMBER SALE, located in U.S. Tract 10 on the Evans Notch Ranger District, Town of Chatham, Carroll County, New Hampshire.

A tour of the Anderson Brook sale area will be conducted on November 19, 1992. Interested parties should meet at the dam on Upper Kimball Pond on the South Chatham Highway at 9:30 a.m.

The intent of this showing is to provide prospective bidders with preliminary information about the sale and to provide an opportunity to inspect the sale area prior to snowfall. However, the showing will take place even if it snows before November 19.

The timber will be offered for sale in the near future. An estimated 160 MBF of sawtimber and 437 cords of pulpwood and millwood are currently marked or otherwise designated for cutting.

A prospectus and full information concerning the timber, the conditions of sale, and the submission of bids will be available at the time of sale advertisement.

For more information contact Pat Nestor, Evans Notch Ranger District, RFD 2, Box 2270, Bridge Street, Bethel, Maine 04212 or call (207) 824-2134.

CARL H. PIIRAINEN

Carl H. Piirainen, 75, of West Paris, died Monday, Nov. 9, 1992 at the Veterans Hospital, Togus.

He was born Oct. 30, 1917, the son of Antti H. and Kaisa Maatta Piirainen. He attended schools in South Paris and worked at Paris Manufacturing Co. for six years. He served in World War II with the Army Air Force, 14th Air Force Flying Tigers and was the recipient of the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, Purple Heart, Good Conduct Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal, World War II Victory Medal, American Campaign Medal, The China War Memorial Decoration and Aviation Gunners Wings. He was retired from the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, Comptroller Department Appropriation and Property Accounting Branch as supervisor of the stores accounting section in 1969 with over 27 years of Government service. He was a life member of the DAV John F. McPherson Chapter I of Togus, a member of the 14th Air Force Association and the Ring-McKeen American Legion Post of West Paris. He lived in West Paris for most of his life and married Lois Witham on Oct. 28, 1945.

Mr. Piirainen is survived by his wife of West Paris; a son, Dale W. Piirainen of Pensacola, Fla.; a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Dian) Stinson of West Paris; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Private family graveside services will be held. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made, in his memory, to the Trinity Lutheran Church of South Paris or Disabled American Veterans, c/o Gary Burns, Togus, ME 04330.

CARD OF THANKS

I'd like to thank all of my friends and relatives who helped and supported me through the hard time of my husband's death, Richard Buck. It was well appreciated. Thank you.

Anna Buck

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank my family and friends for the lovely cards, flowers and fruit given me while in the hospital and since I returned home. I appreciate being remembered.

Prayer to the Holy Spirit

Oh Holy Spirit, thou who are all knowing, who brightens every path that I may reach my idea, thou who giveth me this divine gift of forgiving and forgetting wrongs done unto me and who in every instant if my life art with me, I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessings and reaffirm once again that I never want to part from thee though the illusion of material things abound. My desire is to be with thee and all my loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine.

(Persons should pray 3 consecutive days without revealing petition. Within three days grace will be attained regardless of how difficult the petition may be.)

Publish this prayer once grace is attained. Grateful for grace attained C.S.
